CalledTogether does not exist by accident. We launched this strategic initiative in 2014 to unite hearts and callings around the central purpose of extending God's name and glory to the ends of the earth. God has been using families as a strategic force from the beginning, and we believe that passionate, single-minded families will be a powerful force to send out into the world. That is why we launched a completely updated and redesigned site in July 2018. Come and see what God has done already, and be a part of what's next by sharing our story with the singles you know.
